

Inclusion and diversity

A survey for Quakers in Britain

Dear Friend,

As the coordinator of the Inclusion and Diversity Project, my role is to help the Quaker community in Britain develop in more inclusive ways. Yearly Meeting 2017 heard “a call to examine our diversity,” and to that end we are conducting a baseline audit – effectively an examination of our present situation. This work was supported by Meeting for Sufferings in October 2018, but for it to be a meaningful exercise we need your participation.

Please complete the survey form, one for yourself and one for each child or young person (under 16) for whom you are responsible. It is completely anonymous: I am asking for personal details, but none that can be traced to you as an individual. The data will be collected, stored and analysed by me, Edwina Peart, and confidentiality is guaranteed.

Please also encourage others within your Quaker community to complete the survey. If you are a clerk or hold any other office, please draw it to the attention of all those in your meeting and ask them to engage, too.

Our aim is to remove all barriers to participation in our Society. But we cannot begin to develop any new strategies without first understanding our current position.

The form is available online at www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/quakersurvey. Digital submissions are easier for us to process, but if online form-filling is difficult or inconvenient, please use the paper version on the facing page.

Please support this very important work.

Thank you!

Edwina Peart

Inclusion and Diversity Coordinator

Please ensure that you complete only one form, whether online (address on the facing page) or in paper format. More paper copies can be obtained from your local meeting or from me, Edwina Peart (edwinap@quaker.org.uk), at Friends House. Please return paper forms to 'Edwina Peart, Freepost Quakers' by March 28, 2019
