Separation Barrier

A separation barrier keeps Palestinians away from areas where Israelis are living. The Israelis started building it in 2002 and they keep adding to it. It passes through cities, where it is a wall, and countryside, where it is an electric fence. Palestinians often have to queue at checkpoints when they need to reach their farmland, school, workplace or visit anywhere that happens to be on the other side.

Banksy, the artist, has added many pictures to the Palestinian side of the wall.
