

Starting Points

Advices & queries bingo

Ask the young people in your group to draw out a 3x3 grid as in the example below, and in each square ask them to put the number of an Advices & queries passage. This is a number between 1 and 42, (Not: 15, 16, 20, 24, 26, 34) or any suitable range within this.

Once this has been done, read the excerpts from Advices & queries that follow in a random order, making sure to state what passage number is being read from.

If a young person hears a passage that they have written down the number of, they should place a cross over that square in their grid.

When a young person has crossed off a whole row or column of numbers they call 'Row', and when they have crossed off every square they call 'Bingo' and the game comes to an end.

Ask the young people if any of the excerpts from Advices & queries stood out to them.
