Card games

Deal each player a hand of 5 cards. Place the rest face down as a drawing stack, turning the top card over. Decide who will go first (youngest, oldest, to the right of the dealer etc.).

The player can play a card if it matches the suit or value of the top card, for example for an 8 of diamonds you can play either an 8 or another diamond. If this is not possible the player must draw a new card from the stack and answer the question associated with the card. If possible they should then play this card, otherwise the turn then passes to the next person.
