Bradford East Africa Community Integration Project provides a Saturday homework club and community meeting space for refugees from East Africa and is supported by Bradford local meeting.

Many refugees face immense difficulties integrating into British society as life in the refugee camps in East Africa is hard and problems arising there travel with the families to their new home. Many of the parents speak little or no English and are unfamiliar with the UK education system and national curriculum but are very anxious for their children to gain maximum benefit from their schooling. The project provides a setting for families with a setting where both adults and pre-school children of the families attending can benefit.

The grant will provide funding for an ESOL teacher and bus fares for those attending classes.
