

“Seeking to reduce carbon emissions is an urgent priority, but without interrogating and disrupting our existing economic systems, this will only lead us back to an unjust system.” Minute 33, Yearly Meeting 2021

The insurance industry is an enabler of new fossil fuel projects.

A group of approximately ten people of diverse ages and ethnicities are standing outdoors in front of a building with large windows. They are holding a large, light blue banner that spans across the front of the group. The banner has the text "NO MORE FOSSIL FUELS" in large, bold, dark blue capital letters. Below this, the word "amen" is written in a smaller, dark green, lowercase font. To the right of "amen" is a large, stylized white arrow pointing to the right.

Quakers and others are working together to urge the industry to change.

The logo for "Insure" features a stylized white sunburst or fan shape above the word "Insure" in a bold, sans-serif font. Below "Insure" is the tagline "OUR FUTURE" in a smaller, all-caps, sans-serif font.

OUR FUTURE

Quakers welcome people of all faiths and none. Let's work together for a financial system that values people and planet.

For a safe and liveable future, we need to stop embarking on new fossil fuel projects like oil fields and coal mines. The insurance industry could play an important role in this change by refusing to insure oil and gas.

Insurance campaigning has already helped to delay the East African Crude Oil Pipeline. This project has violated human rights and, if built, would be a massive source of carbon emissions.

The Quaker faith is rooted in a belief in the humanity and equality of all people. Quakers in Britain are therefore called to respond to human rights violations and the injustice of the climate crisis.

We support the Insure Our Future campaign by:

- writing open letters to insurance companies
- organising vigils at insurance company headquarters
- supporting people of faith to join the campaign and take action or raise awareness
- sharing information about the campaign.
